

Case Study #1

A team member asked you to provide feedback on a sequence being used in a metabolic engineering study in Saccharomyces cerevisiae. Preliminary data suggested that the introduction of this sequence enabled a more efficient breakdown of complex substances and an increased yield of a particular metabolite.

Are there any concerns about this sequence from a biosecurity standpoint? Why or why not?